

$3,505,754,727 ESTIMATED COST TO RUN U. S. NEXT YEAR; FEDERAL BUDGET SHOWS $462,167,639 LESS THAN CURRENT YEAR

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 5.—A federal budget for the fiscal year, 1922, approximately $3,505,754,727, approximately $200,000,000 below the four billion dollar figure which had been estimated some time ago as the minimum of government expenditures for several years to come, faced congress when it convened today. The exact figures as prepared by the newly created budget bureau and transmitted by President Harding in a special message, were $3,505,754,727, including an estimated deficit of $21,509,666 in the operations of the postal service.

This total represents a decrease of $462,167,639 from the $3,967,922,366 estimated expenditures for the current fiscal year and $2,032,295,962 from the actual expenditures in the fiscal year, 1921. It is, however, $167,571,977 in excess of the estimated receipts of $3,338,182,750, while the outgo for the current fiscal year exceeds the estimated receipts of $3,453,663 by $21,468,703.

Referring to the apparent deficit for 1922, President Harding wrote the congress that "ways are provided for the relatively easy adjustment without added taxation" of the discrepancy between the income and outgo. As one means he recommended legislation directing the reduction of the accumulated naval supply account by $100,000,000.

Make Big Cut
Actual appropriations asked of Congress for the various federal departments and agencies for 1922 total $3,224,875,592, exclusive of Postoffice Department. This represents a reduction of $122,806,310 from the original estimate as presented to the budget bureau, it is stated, but is approximately $27,000,000 more than the appropriations for this fiscal year.

Explaining the $250,870,184 excess of estimated expenditures in 1922 over the appropriations asked for, Budget Bureau officials explain that some of the funds actually to be put out will be carried over in continuing appropriations and by other means. They say that appropriations for a given year do not accurately reflect actual expenses for that year, pointing out that while the appropriations for this fiscal year were $3,197,807,962, the estimated outgo will exceed this sum by $770,000,000.

Of the total estimated expenditures for 1922, approximately $2,500,000,000 is to pay for past wars and to keep up the fighting arms of the government, leaving only about $800,000,000 for the peace-time pursuits of the federal establishment. The estimate for the army and navy is $801,635,107, a reduction of $66,305,200 as compared with this fiscal year and $56,352,741 as compared with the fiscal year 1921.

Naval Cuts Not Included
The navy estimate of $431,754,000, it is explained, does not take into account any possible reductions that might be brought about as a result of the arms conference, the total including funds for continuing work on the ships of the 1916 program, most of which would be scrapped under the proposal made to the conference by the American government.

The largest single item in the budget is the fund for the interest on the public debt, the $975,000,000 provided lacking only $25,000,000 of the total expenses of the federal establishment before the world war. In addition there is an estimate of $301,333,800 for the war debt sinking fund.

Included in the total for the army and navy is $31,064,400 for development and maintenance of the air services of the two departments, divided $16,115,000 for the navy and $15,700,000 for the army. These compare with expenditures this year of $15,000,000 and $19,150,700 respectively.

The navy estimates carry an item of $294,198,000 for continuing construction on the 1916 building program as compared to $142,452,000 for this year. Navy pay calls for $118,751,000, an increase of $49,000,000.

Pay, mileage, etc. for the army is the largest item in the war department budget, the figure being $154,448,400. For the national guard an expenditure of $28,046,000 is estimated.

Included in the $455,222,702, estimate for the veterans' bureau are these items: Military and naval compensation, $110,000,000; military and naval insurance, $62,713,000; vocational rehabilitation, $127,000,000; medical and hospital service, $72,000,000. (Continued on Page Seven)

Woman Balked Arbuckle Jury In Its Efforts To Acquit Him

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—Collateral issues were to the fore today in the affairs of Roscoe C. Arbuckle, the jury which tried him on a manslaughter charge having disagreed and been discharged yesterday.

Foremost of the three groups of circumstances attracting public interest in the motion picture comedian was the charge made by Mrs. Helen W. Hubbard, one of the jurors who tried him on charges arising from the death of Virginia Rappe, that attempts had been made at her intimidation.

Mrs. Hubbard told Milton Ufflen, an assistant district attorney, and several other persons that a man representing himself as Gus Oliver, a commission merchant, with whom her husband had had business dealings, had telephoned the husband Saturday night with the intent of having her change her vote as a juror. She let it be known that she had stood consistently for Arbuckle's conviction. Hubbard said it had been planned by the man that he might save himself trouble by sending his wife a note asking that she vote for Arbuckle's acquittal.

"Hubbard said he asked how such a note could be sent to a member of a jury, and said Oliver replied: 'Just give the note to a member of the sheriff's office.'"

Hubbard's statement added, a friend of Oliver notified him that he did not urge Mrs. Hubbard to vote for Arbuckle's acquittal. Oliver would ruin him. Hubbard is an attorney. How Oliver was to carry out the alleged threat was not made clear.

Other charges of attempted intimidation were made by Mrs. Hubbard against certain of the men jurors, and particularly against August Fritz, foreman of the jury, it was declared.

Abusive Terms Charged

Fritz according to Mrs. Hubbard, used abusive language to her, as did other men jurors in their attempts to induce her to change her vote which she declared the jury for many hours.

"The entire case in the jury room was the trial of the District Attorney's office rather than the trial of Arbuckle," Mrs. Hubbard said today.

Following sharp colloquies between Nathan Brady, District Attorney, and certain of the witnesses, Mrs. Hubbard asserted several jurors remarked in the jury room that they did not like the District Attorney's methods, and would not vote for Arbuckle's conviction.

"This is a cheap attempt at a back-slap," said Milton Cohen, the only member of Arbuckle's counsel who could be reached tonight. "Of course, we know nothing of any attempt to intimidate any jurors."

He then announced the whole matter would be laid before the grand jury tomorrow.

The federal charge against Arbuckle is on an allegation of illegal trans-

BABE RUTH SUSPENDED UNTIL MAY 20

CHICAGO, December 5.—Babe Ruth's share of the world's series profits in 1921 were declared forfeited, and Ruth himself suspended until May 20, 1922, by Commissioner K. M. Landis in a decision today fixing punishment for the New York Yankee ball player for participating in a post-season barnstorming tour.

Ruth may apply for reinstatement on May 20 or within ten days after that date, Commissioner Landis said. The 1922 baseball season starts about the middle of April, so that Ruth will be prevented from participating in baseball at least one month next season.

Bill Piercy, New York American pitcher, and Bob Meusel, the Yankee rightfielder, were given the same punishment by Commissioner Landis. They participated in the trip with Ruth. The trio started out from New York City, playing several dates in New York state, but the trip was called off after they had been warned that they were violating the rules of organized baseball.

Ruth's share in the 1921 world's series amounted to $3,362, which he will lose by the Landis decision. Meusel's share was the same, while Piercy received $100 less than his team-mates.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—"Well, just let it go at that for the present," Babe Ruth, champion home run hitter of baseball, declared today when informed of the decision in Chicago of Judge Landis, depriving him of his share of the world's series' money and suspending him until May 20, 1922.

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—At the request of President John A. Heyler, of the National League, Commissioner K. M. Landis today issued a call for a joint meeting of the two major baseball leagues at New York on December 13.

MANY KILLED IN TRAIN CRASH

PHILADELPHIA, PA., December 5.—A head-on collision of local passenger trains on the Newton branch of the Philadelphia and Reading Railway, between Woodmont and Paper Mill Station, 16 miles from Philadelphia, today resulted in the death, it is believed, of nine to twelve persons and the injury of more than a score of others. A snow storm virtually cut off wire communication with the scene of the wreck.

The collision occurred on a single track in a deep cut, the trains involved being a local from Philadelphia for Newton, Pa., and another from Newton for this city.

The wreckage took fire and early reports were that a number of persons were burned to death. The place of the accident is rather isolated. Doctors and wreck trains were sent out from nearest points and physicians along the countryside were summoned. The injured and some of the dead

QUADRUPLE ENTENTE MAY TAKE PLACE OF ANGLO-JAP ALLIANCE

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The draft of a quadruple entente, which would serve as a substitute for the Anglo-Japanese alliance, it was learned today from authoritative sources, is now under consideration by the governments of the United States, Great Britain, Japan and France.

This is said to explain the delay of the Japanese government in announcing its decision concerning the question of the ratio of naval tonnage because it appears that, as the problem of warship tonnage is connected with national policy, the two matters are being discussed together. There was a growing impression today that if the entente can be worked out satisfactorily Japan would not insist upon her request for a 70 per cent ratio of capital ships as against the sixty per cent suggested in the American proposals.

The inclusion of France in the preliminary negotiations for the entente has attracted special interest. It has not been disclosed whether the terms of the proposed agreement would be of a nature to satisfy France with reference to her situation in Europe, or whether the entente would merely be a regional accord affecting the Far East.

It is understood that the draft of the entente has been prepared with special reference to the United States constitutional system, under which the senate has the treaty-making power.

67TH CONGRESS CONVENES

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 5.—The sixty-seventh congress convened at noon today for its first regular session.

Ten days only had elapsed since the adjournment of the extra session and it generally was predicted that the session convening today would not end until well into next summer.

The inaugural sittings of both houses were confined to the usual routine, awaiting the communication of the president's address. This was planned for tomorrow at a joint session.

Sixty of the ninety-six senators answered the roll call. Spectators were few.

The senate was in session only nine minutes, taking a recess until 3:00 o'clock to enable committees to notify the president of the assembling congress.

Receipt of the annual budget was the principal business of the house today. Its opening session was marked by the customary call of the roll by states instead of alphabetically.

The tariff revision and the allied debt funding bills were the major features of legislation on the program of the new session.

Senator Penrose of Pennsylvania, gave notice at today's senate session that he planned to call up the allied debt bill tomorrow. The finance committee, of which he is chairman, is to meet tomorrow to substitute for the senate committee bill the measure presented last summer by the house providing for an allied debt settlement commission. Leaders said they planned to bring out the tariff bill in about three weeks, or at least after the holiday season.

Morse Boards Liner Ahead Of Time

HAVRE, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—Charles W. Morse, whose return to the United States on the steamship Paris, was requested by Alvanor General Daugherty, boarded the liner for his journey back to New York at one o'clock this afternoon. Other passengers were not permitted to go aboard before six p. m.

He had requested that he be allowed to embark before noon, but the French line officials pointed out that the stevedores and other attendants of the vessel would not report until two o'clock and that he would be cold and uncomfortable and unable to get much done before that time.

Mr. Morse, whose return was requested in connection with investigation of his transactions with the shipping board, said he had been ill much of the night. A request that he be allowed to delay his departure until January 5 to consult a specialist in regard to his health was refused by Mr. Daugherty.

Labor Has No Right To Picket To Intimidate

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 5.—Organized labor has no right to picket during a strike when it involves importunity, the supreme court today declared.

The decision was delivered in an appeal brought by the American Steel Foundries Company, growing out of a strike at its plant at Granite City, Ill.

The court in its decision declared no broad rule could be laid down in the matter of picketing, however, but that each case must be considered on its merits to determine whether the picketing constituted restraint and intimidation.

PACKERS' WORKERS STRIKE IS OPENED

CHICAGO, December 5.—The ranks of packing house workers in several livestock centers outside of Chicago were reported depleted today, while all except a few independent plants in Chicago were reported to be operating on a nearly normal basis in the first day of the strike called by the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen's Union.

Cornelius J. Hayes, president of the union, said advisers from a half dozen cities reported that the union men walked out 100 per cent. In the Chicago plants of the "big five" packers, company officers announced that from 90 to 95 per cent of their forces reported for work today and that they were experiencing no difficulty in operating.

From St. Joseph, Mo., East St. Louis, Ill., Albert Lea, Minn., Kansas City, Kan., and Wichita, Kan., reports said the union walk-out virtually was unanimous, Mr. Hayes declared. At St. Joseph, President Hayes said, 1,500 men were out and at Albert Lea the entire force of 200 men at a smaller plant had quit work.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Milwaukee reported that packing officers said their plants were unaffected, while from Fort Worth came the announcement from officers of Swift & Co. and Armour & Co., that but 250 men had left work in those two plants.

All five of the larger packers in Chicago—Armour, Swift, Cudahy, Morris and Wilson—reported virtually full forces at work, with many unemployed laborers lined up waiting for jobs. Union officials had no announcement to make on the Chicago situation, except that the union men had walked out and that several small plants were tied up. Of the 19 independent plants in the city, however, a number were said to be unaffected by the strike.

SINN FEIN REJECT BRITISH PROPOSALS

LONDON, December 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The Sinn Fein delegates visited Downing street at 3:00 o'clock this afternoon. It is understood they conferred with the government representatives concerning the question of continuing the truce.

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(By the Associated Press)—The Irish peace negotiations have broken down, according to statements in responsible quarters today, and the Daily Eireann delegates are expected to return finally to Ireland tomorrow or Wednesday.

On the government's side, it was indicated, the argument will be that the refusal of the Sinn Fein to accept allegiance to the king made an agreement impossible, since that condition was insisted upon by the British and was, in addition, an essential preliminary to securing any assent from Ulster.

The truce still remains in effect, and no immediate resumption of hostilities is looked for.

The Sinn Fein, it is declared, refused even a conditional promise of allegiance contingent upon a settlement, the most it offered being to recognize the king as head of the commonwealth of free nations.

The closest examination of the government's latest terms satisfied the Sinn Fein delegates and the Daily Eireann, it is asserted, that they contained no advance on the terms of Prime Minister Lloyd George's original letter, which was formally rejected in July by Eamon DeValera in his speech to the Dail parliament. Two months of negotiations with Downing street had not got the Irish any further, it was argued, and according to well-informed quarters some of the delegates were opposed even to the consideration of the new proposals by the Dail cabinet last Saturday, these delegates being satisfied that acceptance by the negotiators would not be endorsed by the Sinn Fein.

It did not take the Dail cabinet long to decide the issue it appears. After a short discussion, in which all the cabinet members rejected the government's proposals, Mr. DeValera turned to the delegates and said:

"These are your instructions; they are the instructions of the people of Ireland."

The truce continues to exist until notice of its termination is formally given and both the government and the Sinn Fein say they have no intention of giving that notice. Nevertheless both sides feel, it is declared, that the truce is at an end.

LOST: ONE HARD WINTER! WHERE'D IT GO?

By Hereward Carrington
Scientist and Author

NEW YORK.—Weather prophets some months ago were predicting a long, hard winter for this country, which so far certainly failed to materialize. If all those who undertake to "predict the future" were put in jail, for their wrong predictions, it seems as though the jails might be filled with weather prophets, judging from many past experiences.

Usually, weather is "predicted" only a few hours ahead, or a day or so at most, and this is all that the average scientific meteorologist ever hopes to predict. He endeavors to foretell the next day's weather by observations of the barometer, thermometer, anemometer (an instrument which registers the pressure of the wind), the polymer, which is a device for registering humidity, dew-point, etc., and by means of other scientific instruments.

In addition to this, he is in touch with many other parts of the world by telegraph, and hears the sort of weather which they are having in any given locality, and foretells the weather for his own vicinity by calculating the time it would take to travel the necessary distance—the wind being of a certain ascertained velocity.

But these indications are, as before said, for only a few hours ahead, and no scientific weather prophet attempts to foretell, as a rule, the sort of weather which will be experienced weeks and months ahead.

The persons who do this are usually "astrologers," who declare that they can ascertain this by means of the relative of the heavenly bodies at any given time in the future. Needless to say, astrology is not taken seriously by scientific astronomers and weather prophets today. It is not considered by them a "true science."

There are certain general observations which may be drawn, at times, however, by which the general character of the forthcoming season may be to some extent foretold; but these predictions are admittedly very general and uncertain. They are liable to be

Government Heads Are Confident Japan Will Accept U. S. Naval Cut

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Absolute confidence prevails among the highest officials of the United States government that the Japanese cabinet at Tokyo will approve the American naval program as recommended by the Japanese delegation following the conference between Secretary Hughes, Arthur Balfour and Baron Kato on Friday.

The situation will remain unchanged for at least three or four days while the lengthy cablegrams sent by the Japanese delegation early today journey to Tokyo over the slow cable routes of the Pacific.

Those who have been unable to understand the apparent slowness of the negotiations at Washington need only make inquiries concerning the exact time that it takes to get a reply from Tokyo by cable in these days of congested communication. In the first place, the Japanese put their messages in code. To put a cablegram of ordinary length in code takes several hours. To decipher a message describing in detail so important a conference as that which Messrs. Balfour, Hughes and Kato had on Friday probably took most of Friday night. The cable experts say that in ordinary times it takes at least 36 hours for a reply to be obtained to a message sent to Tokyo. While Japanese government messages are given preference, the chances are it will take at least 36 hours for all the Japanese cablegrams to reach Tokyo when another delay is encountered for the messages have then to be decoded and placed before the Japanese cabinet for consideration.

Matters of such moment as the naval ratio that shall exist for the next ten years between the United States, Japan and Great Britain are not disposed of quickly and the chances are that all of Monday and probably Tuesday will be consumed in cabinet council at Tokyo. Then the decision must be put in code and be sent over the long distance cables which have delays at two or three stations enroute from Japan to the United States. On arrival here, the important reply must be decoded and carefully examined. Some times a garbled cable has to be in part repeated. In any event it is not expected that any decisive development on the naval ratio program will be known before the middle of next week when a plenary session may be held to announce to the public the conclusions that have been reached.

Meanwhile the Japanese delegation here is powerless to act. The impression prevails that Baron Kato has recommended to his government that the American naval ratio be accepted. This statement is based on the optimistic manner of Secretary Hughes after his meeting with the heads of the British and Japanese delegations, and also upon certain intimations given in official quarters that matters were proceeding favorably. Those who have heard Secretary Hughes explain the American position on naval ratios and who know what he has said in the private conferences feel confident that any favorable tone given to the situation at this time can only be based upon the fact that the American delegation has "stood pat" and insisted upon an unqualified "yes" or "no" before going much further in the discussion of naval matters.

Just how much of a part the question of fortifications or the renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance played in the meeting between Baron Kato, Secretary Hughes and Arthur Balfour is difficult to conjecture but official information is to the effect that neither of these problems was taken up in detail. Mr. Hughes would never discuss fortifications in detail without referring the matter to the committee on naval experts. It is quite possible that Baron Kato did ask Mr. Hughes several questions particularly as to what America's intentions in general were with respect to the building up of present fortifications in the Pacific. Such a question Secretary Hughes could readily answer with the statement that of course the United States in reducing her naval strength was not planning to build up naval fortifications greater than those she already possessed. This could be seized upon with gratification by the Japanese delegates as an informal assurance warranting Japan in accepting the American naval ratio in entirety. Mr. Hughes would not hesitate to remove any apprehension the Japanese may have had if it led to a clearing of the air. But of one thing this correspondent has been assured. The United States delegation has not felt it advisable to depart in any sense from the fundamental line down in the original Hughes program and anything said since then which might be construed as a concession or an assurance is simply an explanation of the American government's intentions. Some experts have gone so far as to calculate that a pledge from the United States to build up present fortifications is as good to the Japanese as getting the 10-10-7 ratio which they have been seeking. If this is true, the Japanese are attaching far more importance to fortifications than are the American naval experts, who admit that the present fortifications in the far east are hardly effective even for a navy such as America was planning before she proposed the conference plan of reduction of naval armament. So America can well afford to give Japan the assurance concerning future fortifications. This may have been the turning point in the Friday meeting but in any event the fact is the Japanese delegation saw that Mr. Hughes meant business and that he was not disposed to go further in the conference without getting an acceptance or rejection on the question of capital ships and the scrapping of all building programs.

Naval Blimp Inflated With Helium

WASHINGTON, D. C., December 5.—Naval Blimp C-7, the first airship ever to be inflated with helium, the non-explosive gas discovered by the navy department during the war, arrived over Washington today and landed at the naval aviation station at Anacostia, a suburb for inspection by naval officials.

This blimp left Hampton Roads, this morning and made quick time to Washington. On her arrival over the city she cruised at a low altitude over the navy department building, the roar of her motors drawing attention of officers and clerks who rushed to the windows to wave at the airman above them.

The C-7 contains in her huge silver envelope practically the world's available supply of the new gas.

Dr. Pottle of Dayton gave two interesting lectures with the help of pictures at the Eastland on Sunday. Dr. Pottle, holding his audience very attentive in his every word, for nearly two hours each time.

He showed by strong little evidence of the imminence of Messiah's Kingdom upon the earth and the wonderful blessing it will bring to all mankind, that the "good times ahead" so long looked for and desired by all is now just at the door. He showed that amidst the crash of kingdoms, Christ is setting by his kingdom upon the ruins thereof and that since the war 20 kingdoms have already passed, and the others must also pass, for God's Kingdom upon earth. By Christ will be the fifth universal kingdom prophesied to come, that is to fill the whole earth and is to never pass away. He further showed that "the dead" are really and truly dead, that the only hope of life hereafter is in a resurrection of the dead and therefore the dead cannot communicate with the living and the influence that is used of spiritualists and that moves the Ouija boards, is the power of the "fallen angels," the "demons," the same one that obsessed many human beings at Jesus' first advent and that he cast out from them; and he showed that to continue to dwell in these occult powers would finally mean insanity, perhaps suicide and that since the war spiritualism has swept over the world capturing its thousands and that in England alone 150,000 have been confined in insane asylums, through using Ouija boards and dabbling in spiritualism and strongly advised the destruction of these Ouija boards if you had one.

FIND MAN'S ALMOST DECAPITATED BODY IN CREEK

Identity Of Murder Victim Still A Mystery; Clues Are Followed By Officers

With his throat slashed from ear to ear, the lifeless body of an unidentified man about 50 or 55 years old, was found on Dry Run Sunday morning at 10:30 by William Bolton, who resides near where the murder occurred, which is about a mile and a half from the West Side road. The blood stained body had been thrown into a creek and only half of it was exposed when discovered. As soon as it was found Bolton spread the news and a large crowd gathered at the scene, which was within 150 feet of Alex Robert's house, but neither he nor any of his neighbors had ever seen the man before. They told officials that they heard no screams or any unusual noise Saturday night and have no idea as to when the brutal murder was committed.

The finding of this body marked the fourth murder in Scioto County in six weeks, all former criminal records being broken, officials declared last night. "Steps must be taken to curb the crime wave" a prominent official said at the Lynn morgue last night and that every effort would be made to run down the man or men responsible for this latest crime.

Blood Spots Lead to Spot
The murder, officials say, took place before snow started falling Saturday night at 11:30. When the body was found, the scene there found blood spots leading directly to where the body was found, which was about 50 feet from where the murder occurred. The blood shown through the snow and offered convincing proof that after the man had been murdered his body was carried to the creek and tossed into it in an effort to conceal the atrocious act.

There is no question, but what robbery was the motive that prompted the killing as the pockets in the man's trousers, coat and overcoat were found turned inside out. Nothing was found in his effects that would establish the faintest clue to the guilty person or persons. An old knife, a needle, some thread and a piece of a Washington C. H. paper were found among the man's effects. The paper was tucked around his hat band and may lead to his identification. He wore two pairs of dark trousers, a heavy suit of underwear, a yellow shirt, dark coat, heavy pair of army shoes, long, heavy overcoat and an army hat.

The man has a rather prominent nose, is sunken-eyed and has dark, curly hair. He has a full round forehead and is bald in front. His guard of hands indicate that he is a man who has been used to hard work.

Lured to His Death
The theory was frequently advanced Sunday and last night that he possibly was a corn shucker and was lured to the West Side under the belief that he had his earnings on his person.

Sam Brooks, who operates a bus line to Dry Run, stated yesterday afternoon that the dead man got into his auto bus on Market street Saturday night and he drove him to the West Side. "When we reached Dry Run, the man got out. I saw him start to walk up Dry Run," Brooks told a Times man in the Lynn morgue yesterday afternoon.

"I could not be mistaken as I looked at the man's big overcoat and wondered what he was doing with it in this climate."

"Did any one get off with the man?" was asked of Brooks.

"No one did at Dry Run, but one man left the bus just before we reached that spot."

Brooks says that the man talked to other persons in the bus and they asked him where he was going and he replied "fighting for Uncle Sam."

The man had been seen around Market street for several days. More than a dozen men who called at the morgue yesterday told Coroner Hendrickson and Deputy Sheriff Frank Bennett that he had been hanging round the West End for at least a week. He had been eating in the restaurants there all last week.

As soon as the body was found Deputy Sheriff Bennett, Coroner Hendrickson and Detective H. L. Klingman went to the scene. It was found on a huge rock and half of it protruded from the water. The creek runs to the left of the road and the body had been carried about 50 feet from where the murder took place. Alex Roberts, George Bolton, Allen James, Edward Hall, Albert Seymour, James Lewis and L. Smith, who live within a radius of 100 yards of the murder, told a Times man Sunday that they heard no screams Saturday night and most of them had passed the spot several times.

Thousands View Body Of Dead Man

It is estimated that several thousands of persons poured through the Lynn morgue yesterday and last night, all being anxious to get a glimpse of the murdered man. Many had theories of their own as to who the man is, but no positive identification was made. Family pictures were hauled out from Bibles, women took tin types of the morgue, and even pictures in watches were trotted out to see if they would fit the dead man. One man insisted that the man's name was Taylor and that his home was in Clarksburg, Lewis county, Kentucky. Coroner Hendrickson called the marshal in Vanceburg last night and he soon learned that Taylor was at his home in Clarksburg, although he was in Portsmouth Saturday.

Many West Siders called at the morgue believing that the man lived in that section of the county. Not one of them had ever seen him and expressed the belief that he had not been in this section very long.

All the residents near where the body was found viewed the remains, but could not make any identification. "I never saw the man before," Alex Roberts told a Times man last night, and he lives within 150 feet of where the body was found, and is a life-long resident of Dry Run.

Crime Wave Must Stop, Coroner Says

"Some drastic measures must be taken to stop this crime wave, which apparently has gripped this section," Coroner Hendrickson told a Times man last night.

"We have had four brutal murders in six weeks, breaking all criminal records of the city or county. I consider the one on the West Side Saturday night, the most brutal of the four and I shall bend every energy on my part to fathom its mysteries. I believe this man was lured to the West Side from Market street and then deliberately murdered for his money. The man I am told was seen around the West End several times Saturday, and I understand he displayed some money, but I do not know how much. There is no question but what he was enticed to the lonely spot where his life was snuffed out," the Coroner continued.

"And I don't think that one man did it as one man could not have made as complete a job as was done. One man probably held the dead man while the other slashed his throat."

Coroner Believes Man's Coat May Lead To His Identification

Coroner Hendrickson has in his possession the long overcoat the man wore when his life was snuffed out. It was water soaked when it was found and was so heavy that it required two men to lift it. The coat has a heavy felt lining of good quality, the outer cover is black and it has a wide collar and is equipped with brass buttons. The coat came to the man's shoe tops and the coroner said last night that it is a typical Western coat and for this reason the man may not be known in this section.

"We see very few coats like this one around here as the weather is not so severe enough. I believe that the coat cost $100 and it may provide a clue to the man's identity. I have it in my apartments in the Massie block and will guard it as some one possibly will recognize the coat and then its owner."

Barber Says He Shaved Dead Man

Any number of persons, who called at the Lynn morgue yesterday are positive that they saw the murdered man hanging around Market street Saturday. Some say they saw him there last Thursday and Friday.

A well known barber in that section says he shaved the dead man a week ago today and believes he was a corn cutter and had considerable money on his person when murdered. "I am positive that I shaved that man last week," the barber said after viewing the body.

Fourth Murder Since Oct. 21

Unabated, the crime wave here goes on unchecked and officials are baffled over the wanton manner in which the victims are being murdered.

On October 21 John W. Newman and Miss Louise Doyle were murdered by Roy Chamblin, who is condemned to die, and occupies a death cell in the Ohio Penitentiary.

On December 1 Arthur Tinsley, colored, was shot and instantly killed by Felix Ellis, also colored, who is in the county jail, where he awaits the action of the next grand jury. He was denied bail.

In the Lynn morgue the body of the fourth victim lies unidentified. With his pockets turned inside out and rifled, robbery being the motive of this murder.

A real element of mystery shrouds the fourth murder and so far the officials have been unable to work up a tangible clue. However, they are working systematically on the case and a chain of circumstances may at any time lead to the apprehension of the knife-user.

Coroner Is Investigating

The body of the dead man was today moved from the Lynn morgue to the ground floor room of the undertaking establishment, where it is being viewed by hundreds of people. Persons from all parts of the city are calling to see if they can identify the body. One man expressed the belief today that he resided up Big Sandy, and Coroner Hendrickson is investigating this theory.

Seven Head Of Cattle Burn In Barn

Fire of unknown origin Sunday night completely destroyed the big stock and grain barn, together with seven head of cattle and a crop of radishes belonging to Walter Short, situated on what is known as the old Frank Gibbons farm, one mile west of Hanging Rock, on the Portsmouth-Linton road.

The conflagration occurred about eight o'clock and the flames had gained such headway when discovered that Mr. Short and neighbor farmers who promptly came to the scene only succeeded in rescuing a team of valuable horses from the burning building, though at a great risk the men made a heroic but unsuccessful effort to rescue the seven head of cattle. In the face of much danger the men made several attempts to reach the door of the compartment in which the animals were confined, in an effort to liberate the beasts, but each time they were driven back by the flames and as a consequence the animals perished. Considerable grain and hay stored in the building were also consumed by the flames, besides farming machinery and implements of all kinds. The Short home, which is situated about 200 yards away, was not endangered by the blaze.

The loss is estimated at $5,000, covered partly by insurance.

Comebacks Prove Lure Of Stage Can't Be Denied

NEW YORK, November.—The lure of the footlights cannot be denied. The present season on Broadway shows a galaxy of famous actresses who had retired—only to return.

Consider Jessie Garrigue, famous on stage and screen, now appearing in "The Shift," a play written especially for her by her husband, Howard Hickman.

"I was very much in here when I married, and quite sincere in my resolution to quit the stage," says Miss Garrigue. "I was crazy about my baby boy, but—well, now he's big enough so that I can divide my time between him and the stage."

Lillian Albertson is another who chose motherhood in the spotlight. She left the stage 12 years ago at the apex of success. "I have had that greatest of experiences," she says, "bringing a child into the world. I have cared for him tenderly until now he does not need all of my time. So I can return to the theater."

Mrs. Leslie Carter, playing in "The Circle" after seduction in France for a long time, says: "You know, once a woman has heard the call of the stage it is impossible to silence it."

Julia Arthur returned after more than 12 years in "The New Magdalen." "The only thing that keeps me from the stage right now," she says, "is lack of a proper vehicle. I will not play the light, cynical sex stuff that seems the chief output today."

Another who said "Never again!" is Virginia Harlan, who returned to play a special engagement with Arnold Daly. And there will be more increases in the list.

Holy Redeemer Church News

Thursday of this week commemorates the great Christian feast of the Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary, the Mother of God. For the benefit of the working people the first mass will be celebrated at 4:30 and the last mass at 8:30 closing with solemn benediction of the blessed sacrament. Sunday after vespers services, the Young Ladies' Sodality held a well attended meeting in the school house. The annual election of officers for the ensuing year was held when the following women were elected: President, Miss Catherine Cassidy; Vice-President, Mary Elizabeth Stephenson; Secretary, Salome Augustine; Treasurer, Leonora McNamee; Sacristan, Eunice Flannigan.

"The first Sunday of each month until further notice is communion day for the Young Ladies' Sodality. Next Sunday at vespers services twenty-five candidates will be solemnly received into the Sodality. After the ceremony of reception, the newly elected members will be entertained with tea in the school hall. A special meeting will be held in the school hall on Tuesday evening Dec. 28th for further organization and assessing dues. The grand purpose of the Young Ladies' Sodality is first of all to promote in a religious way fitting honor to Mary, the Mother of God, and to foster the highest, holiest and best interests of womanhood in every vocation and walk of life. The Young Ladies' Sodality under the providence of God and sanction of the Catholic church stands persistently and fearlessly for all that Mary who was chosen as immaculate and virgin maid, spouse and mother of the Savior stands for. Under the banner of the Immaculate Conception of the blessed Virgin Mary, the young women of the parish proudly deem themselves worthy to carry about such an august title which means for the womanhood of the world, for in its last analysis, the Immaculate Conception is the foundation of Mary's perpetual virginity and her peerless dignity of motherhood of Christ. In the first moment of her being that is when her soul was united to her body in the chaste womb of her mother, Mary by a singular privilege of Almighty God and in view of Christ's redeeming merits was preserved free from the taint of original sin, which grace is called her Immaculate Conception. This Christian belief is not only the revealed truth of God, but as St. Augustine remarks, it is unbecoming in the same breath to speak of Christ's mother and sin. The Protestant poet, Wordsworth, most beautifully expresses the Christian belief in these words: "Mary, the solitary least of our faintest nature." The Catholic church in her beautiful prayer cries out, "Mary, mother of God, conceived without sin, pray for us." The grace of Mary's Immaculate Conception and her virgin motherhood of Christ, at once strikes and without bloodshed revolution did more than all the so-called reformers of the world, to give womanhood as maid, wife and mother her essential freedom and equality her dignity and moral power. We are told "the hand that rocks the cradle rocks the world." Even so, Mary rocked the cradle of the Christ, who alone is the source and stay which supports, sustains, educates, civilizes, refines, models, preserves and perfects the race of mankind. What the first woman Eve did to impair our race, Mary the second Eve, repaired. The world of men today are not looking for Amazons, nor Spartan women, nor Venuses nor Didos. They demand "valiant women," who prize above all worldly honors, virginity, purity and truly remarks, are persistent, unflinching, staunch, hearty, and without the power to perpetrate the race—the family, and state, to give true peace and happiness to womanhood and man.

Dear Miss Dolly—Have been reading about a petition being started relative to the Roy Chamblin case. Can you give me any information as to the whereabouts of this petition and if the citizens of Portsmouth will have an opportunity to sign it.

I THANK YOU
I don't know anything about a petition being circulated, but I do know that if the man Roy Chamblin murdered had been your husband, son or brother, and the girl your sister or daughter, you would not have written the above letter. Chamblin did not know the couple he murdered, and it is believed now that he forced them into that cottage at the point of his gun. It just happened that this couple was passing when he reached the Trail, and they were the victims. Did you ever stop to think that it might have been you, or a member of your family instead of the man and woman he killed? If you could conscientiously sign a petition to pardon a man who had killed one of your loved ones, you cannot reproach yourself for signing the petition you inquired about.

Dear Dolly—Do you think there is any harm in playing ring games at parties.
BLACK HAIR
No, not if they are nice ring games.

Dear Dolly—I am a man of 21 and in love with a girl of 18. Do you think she is too young for me? L. C.
She is not young enough. If you want to adopt a child, would advise you to take one about three or four years of age.

Dear Dolly—I go to Sunday school and on my way home there are two girls who jump me for a quarrel. What would you do about it?

ANNOY TO KNOW
If you are afraid of them you should take a different route home or take some one else with you. If they are in your class tell your teacher and ask her to give them a private lesson on "Brotherly Love."

Dear Dolly—What is the style for winter, yarn hose and oxford shoes.

Girls who think more of style than they do of their health are wearing silk hose and oxfords. Shoes are the most sensible footwear for winter, but if you must wear oxfords would advise you to wear wool or silk and wool hose. Some girls wear two pair of silk hose.

Dear Dolly—My husband goes to see another woman and I know about it. What shall I do about it?

UNHAPPY WIFE
Next time he goes to see her get him by the ear and march him right back home.

Felt Just Like Iron Band Was Round Her Head

Everybody will read with interest the statement of Miss M. E. Woodford, 1908 Filmore St., Lynchburg, Va., who says:

"I don't believe anybody ever suffered from headaches like I did. The pains felt like an iron band was being drawn around my head and my temples would throbb until I was driven almost distracted."—I shudder when I think of those awful headaches. I had no appetite either.

"I owe Tanlac an everlasting debt of gratitude for entirely ridding me of those terrible headaches. My stomach has been toned up too, and everything I eat agrees with me now. Tanlac certainly brought me health and happiness."

Tanlac is sold in Portsmouth by the Fisher & Streich Pharmacy and by leading druggists everywhere.

Give Splendid Program At The Five Mile Church

Yesterday afternoon, in spite of the cold, more than thirty members of the First Christian church under the auspices of the Loyalty and Intermediate Christian Endeavors of that church made the trip out to the Five Mile church on the Scioto Trail and put on a splendid program for the folks worshipping there.

It was their Sunday school hour and the superintendent was very agreeably surprised to see the large number of strangers pouring into his school, for he had not been informed of their coming. Mr. Weaver, the pastor of the church, however was in on the secret and he welcomed the bunch gladly and turned the entire hour over to the C. E.'s who were in charge of the Prayer Meeting committee of the Loyalty C. E.

L. N. Foster very capably led the congregation in some lively songs and then after a season of prayer a general program of worship was entered into. This was followed by the introduction of the various officers of the C. E. and the Sup. of First Chris-

Cafe Owner Charged With Defrauding U. S.

CLEVELAND, Dec. 5.—The trial of Moe H. Baron, wealthy Brooklyn, N. Y., cafe owner, charged with conspiracy to defraud the government, was set for hearing today in the federal court here. Witnesses from many parts of the country have been subpoenaed.

Baron was scheduled to have gone on trial in Youngstown last Thursday on a charge of bribery, but that hearing was postponed to allow the accused man to go on trial in the federal court first.

Baron, with four others, is alleged to have obtained a shipment of whiskey in Pittsburgh through irregular permits. The alleged conspirators brought the whiskey to Youngstown, where it is charged Baron offered former Safety Director David J. Scott, of Youngstown, a bribe for protection.

Others charged jointly with Baron are Hyman Barnett and the Simon, of Pittsburgh; Virgil McMahon and Bernard Levy, former deputies in the Brooklyn revenue office, and Adolph Glick, of Youngstown.

England Stirred By "Miracles"

Expect Trade To Follow

Percy Murray, 31, was wheeled into the Morbury Congregational Church in London where Rev. Stephen Jeffries is holding an evangelistic meeting. After the preacher prayed for him the boy walked from the church. That's Percy kicking so high. England is greatly agitated over the "miracle" cures at these meetings.

Learning To Boil Potatoes!

A poet once sang that a man could do without poetry, music and art but he couldn't do without food. So the London County Council has endowed Westminster Technical Institute with a three-months course in plain cooking. The chief lecturer says the hardest thing to teach is how to boil a potato.

32 Inches Tall But Mighty

Dean Dagima Diki Diki, also called Dean Sibi Sibi, is 37, weighs 24 pounds and is 32 inches tall, but he's a great man. He's head Moro chief of the island of Uban, near Jolo in the Southern Philippines. His word is law in his tribe.

Work Of Arms Conference In Hands Of Committees; Formal Session Suspended

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—While formal sessions of the arms conference and its subdivisions were suspended today during the recess until Wednesday, for most of the delegates

It was not a day of rest so far as concerns the important "informal" discussions between individuals and groups which are becoming increasingly prominent as the negotiations reach a more advanced stage. In addition, the recess affords opportunity for speeding up the work of the several subcommittees appointed by the Far Eastern committee to study specific questions relating to China, including the tariff situation and China's request for withdrawal of foreign troops on her soil, and also the special conference between the delegates of that country and Japan on the Shantung controversy. Today's session of that conference will resume discussion of the question of control of the Shantung railway, upon which there was a preliminary exchange of views Friday.

Cost To Run U.S.

Wages and salaries and expenses, $26,521,702. For prohibition enforcement, the budget bureau estimates $10,000,000, an increase of $2,500,000 over this year. Expenses of the internal revenue bureau are placed at $66,206,190, as compared with $65,022,790 for this year.

While the railroad administration and the transportation act are expected to cost the government $36,670,257, in 1922, no estimate of expenditures for these purposes for 1923 was included in the budget. Experts explained that it was not possible to make an accurate estimate of what would be needed for the carriers until after the results of the 1922 railroad financing are known.

Dawes Explains Budget
Accompanying the budget as sent to Congress is a detailed report from Director General Dawes as to the operation of the budget bureau since its establishment five months ago and some pointed comments as to means of continuing its efficient operation. Discussing the reception of the budget by Congress, General Dawes says:

"It is to be expected that since the preliminary estimates have been made under pressure by the executive for proper retrenchment, where consistent with efficiency, it will not be necessary, as heretofore, for Congress to make radical cuts upon the estimates of the budget with any uncertainty as to what will be the result as it effects efficiency. The President of the United States, when he sends the budget to Congress is permitted to send it with all the reductions in expenditures which can be effected without due impairment of governmental business processes. In the preparation of the budget he has had at work an authorized agency in the bureau not only in ascertaining the reasonableness of desired appropriations, but in continually imposing pressure upon the departments for a reduction in the estimates wherever proper and possible."

General Dawes says he feels that the estimate for expenditures for 1923, upon which the budget is based, will not be increased except through appropriations initiated by Congress or by the executive as a result of emergency or unforeseen conditions arising after the preparation of the budget.

Wants Funds Cut Out
Reiterating his recommendation that Congress immediately repeal all outstanding appropriations, appropriations and "revolving funds," General Dawes says the method of appropriating money heretofore followed "has resulted in a condition of things under which it is almost impossible for either the executive, Congress or the Secretary of the Treasury to have before them a true picture of the fiscal condition of the government at any particular time."

Encourages Shipbuilding
"The whole habit of making continuous appropriations to which the government has been committed in the past," he adds, "is only an encouragement to a lack of scrutiny of public work by the head of the department under which it is carried on, and an encouragement to shiftlessness on the part of the subordinates more directly concerned in it. This system of preparing the budget will confine the attention of the Executive, of Congress, and of the public to the one great important question, to-wit, the relation of the money actually to be spent by the Government to the money actually to be received by the Government in any given year, all its outstanding obligations and indefinite commitments, projects, and enterprises considered. This will enable Congress, with more intelligence, to determine at any time both the necessity for retrenchment and the ability of the Government to engage in additional projects to be initiated by Congress outside of the budgetary provisions."

Points Out Faults
Likening the federal government to a business corporation, General Dawes points to these "faults" which he says exist:

The President of the corporation (the President of the United States) gave practically no attention to its ordinary routine business.

The administrative vice-presidents (members of the cabinet) were allowed to run their several departments as if each separate department was an independent authority in all matters of routine business.

Because of a lack of any outlined business plan, no system existed for making purchases or in selling material along business lines under a unified policy.

No balance sheet of the corporation as a whole was ever prepared.

The treasury kept no accurate account of the contingent obligations of the various federal departments, thus resulting in money being drawn from him continuously in excess of the estimated annual running expenses.

The corporation, in effect, seldom reconsidered an unwise project entered into by any department.

The administrative heads of the departments were selected as a rule with little reference to their business qualifications, and were compelled to rely largely upon the advice of subordinates "wedded to the theory of the right of independent operation of the department."

Outlines Work of Agencies
Outlining the work of the various coordinating agencies established by Presidential order "to rectify faults in the routine business of the government," General Dawes says:

"They involve no transfer of authority, the location of which has been fixed otherwise by statute.

"They involve the delegation of no question of policy save that of economy and efficiency.

"They are simply agencies by which unified methods of ordinary business can be imposed by the Chief Executive.

"They are created simply to give the President of the United States, the same agencies of contact and transmission of authority as obtain in any private organization.

"They are non-partisan, being composed of men already in the Government service.

"They are in effect simply a regrouping under an executive leadership of certain of the present employees of Government of such experience, contact and relation to its routine business as enables them to make possible the application of common-sense business methods.

"It can not be too often reiterated that this most important reformation in the governmental business system is dependent upon the President of the United States himself, and upon his continued assumption of his responsibility as its business head. The minute he realizes his attitude of attention to his duty—there will be felt the natural pull of the department and establishments toward the old system of complete independence and decentralization."

General Dawes concludes his report with this statement:

"In making this report the Director of the Budget will state that his connection with the bureau is limited as to time, in accordance with an understanding which he had with the President at the time of his appointment. His purpose in making this announcement at this time is to emphasize the fact that his recommendations are made in an impersonal way, with fundamental business principles and their proper preservation in their application to governmental business administration alone in mind."

cause they had not reduced wages, over which the strike was called. Company spokesmen were optimistic from the number of employees who came to work on the first day of the strike, but union leaders said that the strike would spread and that another day would see still larger defections.

More than 300 men lined up early today at Armour's employment office, but few were given jobs. At another Armour entrance approximately 500 men waited to get in and police were in doubt whether to disperse the crowd until it developed that they were also looking for work.

The first call for police came from the Swift plant, where 700 men gathered waiting for jobs. A. Cudaby, Jr., of the Cudaby Packing Co., said that reports from the company's plants were that about 50 per cent of their employees had reported for work.

John E. O'Hern, of Armour's, announced that 7,500 of the 8,000 Armour employees came to work as usual this morning. In other plants there was "about a 50-50 break," he said. Shipments were very light today, Mr. O'Hern said, and there was no necessity for filling the vacancies here today.

Peace Parley Breaks Down

course of events will be bound to involve a renewal of hostilities.

LONDON, December 3.—(By the Associated Press).—The crisis in Irish peace negotiations held the exclusive attention of official Irish circles today. Premier Lloyd George obtained an audience with King George and explained the situation to him, after which the British peace representatives held a conference. This was followed by a meeting of the entire cabinet.

The Irish delegation yesterday informed Premier Lloyd George that the government's latest proposals were unacceptable to the Dail Eireann cabinet. Another meeting between the Sinn Fein peace delegation and a British committee was arranged for today. The time limit set by Sir James Craig, Ulster premier, for the submission of a further plan by Mr. Lloyd George expires tomorrow.

Sir James is to address the Ulster parliament tomorrow and, should no new terms be forthcoming, he is expected to announce the peace negotiations at an end.

Should this occur the British position would be thrown back to the stand taken by Mr. Lloyd George before the negotiations opened more than five months ago—that British law must be maintained in Ireland, even through the use of the military. How far the present truce would endure under such conditions is conjectural. Thus far there has been no agreement for extension of the truce.

The newspapers generally regard the situation with grave anxiety, but while a tone of pessimism runs through many of the comments, hope is not everywhere abandoned. The optimists point out that as long as the negotiations are not definitely broken off there is a possibility of ultimate settlement.

MANY KILLED

were removed to a hospital at Abington, Pa.

The injured and living dead were mostly commuters known along the Newton branch.

Shortly before noon the company gave out a statement in which it said the cause of the accident seemed to be due to the train leaving Philadelphia "overrunning its orders."

According to passengers, few were killed in the first impact, but that many casualties occurred when the wreckage caught fire and ate its way through the demolished cars, where passengers were caught. Rescuers were almost helpless because of the flames.

Because of the tangled wreckage, officials of the company said it would be impossible to learn how many persons lost their lives until the debris had been completely searched.

According to passengers, the engineer of the train bound for Newton, waited about ten minutes at Huntingdon Valley for the south bound train and then moved on. Shrieking blasts of locomotive whistles were the first indication the passengers had of their peril. A few seconds later the crash came.

Forest Bellman, of Southampton, Pa., a passenger, describing the wreck, said the locomotives were piled together with the first coach of the south bound train lying on top of a tender and the first coach of the north bound train almost in the same position. Fire started almost immediately and burned fiercely. Some of the uninjured in the first coach of the south bound train crawled through windows, he said.

BRINGING UP FATHER

Father Thought Dead, Is Found

Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Belveal of Hous-ton Hollow, Scioto Trail, received a telegram late Saturday night that their father, Ben Woods, was safe and well at the home of relatives near St. Albans, W. Va. The local people then called off their Sunday trip to Russell, Ky., where they expected to view the body of an unidentified man killed in the C. & O. railroad yards early last week, Mrs. Belveal believing that the body was that of her father.

Walter P. Woods, of Columbus, a brother of Mrs. Belveal, left Columbus about the middle of the week to assist in locating the father or to help identify the body at Russell. He stopped at Russell enroute to St. Albans, but could not identify the picture taken of the dead man as that of his father. Going to St. Albans, he soon learned that his father was in the country near there and Saturday he wired his sister, Mrs. Belveal that the father was safe and well. The body at Russell was to have been exhumed for Mr. and Mrs. Belveal Sunday, had they made the trip.

Square Deal For Country Child Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The greatest need in education in the United States today is a square deal for the country child, John Tigert, commissioner of education, declared today in a statement issued in connection with the opening of "American Education Week."

"While no child is denied an education in America," he said, "the opportunity is by no means equal." Asserting that two-thirds of the nation's 300,000 schools are one room buildings, Mr. Tigert said the average expenditure each year for the city child was $40.59 against $23.91 for his rural brother. Urban schools, he added, were open 182 days a year on an average, against 142 days for those in the country, and the average city teacher received a salary of $854 against $470 for the rural teacher.

Educational advantages are the chief reason for the drift from farm to city, he continued, adding that "the same financial support, consolidated schools and good roads," would solve the difficulty.

Ashland To Have New Whariboat

Ashland is soon to have a new whariboat, the boat now being under construction at Manchester and will be completed within a few days. The new boat, which is owned by Chris Green, owner of the Green line of Ohio river steamers, will be much larger than the present one and will enable the handling of a great deal more freight.

The steamer Greenwood, which is being repaired on the Enterprise docks at Point Pleasant, will be back in service in a couple of weeks. It has been announced, to replace the Ohio, which was sunk recently near Cincinnati. This will give the Green line three steamers in the Cincinnati trade, the others being the Chris Green and Tacoma.

Two boats continue in the Pittsburg trade, the General Wood plying between Pittsburg and Cincinnati and the Detsy Ann from Pittsburg to this city.

No More Gas in Stomach &amp; Bowels

If you wish to be permanently relieved of gas in the stomach and bowels, take Baumann's Gas-Tablets. Baumann's Gas-Tablets are prepared distinctly for stomach gas, and for all the bad effects coming from gas pressure.

That empty and gnawing feeling at pit of your stomach disappears, that anxious, nervous, feeling with heart palpitation will vanish and you will again be able to take a deep breath, often prevented by gas pressing against your heart and lungs.

Your limbs, arms and fingers won't feel cold and go to sleep because Baumann's Gas-Tablets prevent gas interfering with the circulation; drowsiness, sleepy feeling after dinner will be replaced by a desire for some form of entertainment. Your distended stomach will reduce because gas will not form after using Baumann's Gas-Tablets.

Roosevelt To Act As Santa Claus

OYSTER BAY, N. Y., December 5.—The old Santa Claus who gladdened the hearts of Cove Neck school tots at Christmas time is gone, but the task of carrying the toy bag has descended on the shoulders of his son.

Twenty-five years ago the late Theodore Roosevelt played Santa Claus for the children of Cove Neck school, for four of his own tots were pupils there. And then it became a joyful habit with him to don the red and white suit and long whiskers so well known to little folks.

Each year at Cove Neck the children wrote to tell Santa what they wanted, and Mr. Roosevelt carried the gifts to them. The Santa letters written at Cove Neck this year have been sent to Assistant Secretary of the Navy Roosevelt at Washington.

Inquire Into Alcohol As Medicine

NEW YORK, December 5.—A questionnaire on alcohol as a therapeutic agent and its employment as a medicine has been sent to 40,000 physicians in the United States by the American Medical Association. Some of the questions follow:

"Do you regard whiskey, or beer or wine as a necessary therapeutic agent in the practice of medicine? If yes, what disease or conditions?"

"Have instances occurred in your own practice in which unnecessary suffering or death has resulted from the enforcement of prohibition laws? If yes, how many such cases have you known in the last year?"

"How many times have you found it advisable to prescribe whiskey, or beer or wine in a month?"

"Present regulations limit the number of prescriptions to 100 in three months. In your opinion should there be any limit to the number of prescriptions for alcoholic liquors a physician may write? If yes, what should the limit be?"

"In your opinion should physicians be restricted in prescribing whiskey, beer or wine? If yes, what should the restrictions be?"

If you want to insure your car, or property of any kind, we would be pleased to do it for you. Office open evenings from 6 to 9 o'clock.

Ingrown Nails Will Turn Out

A noted authority says that a few drops of "Outgro" upon the skin surrounding the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin under the nail, that it can not penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost overnight.

"Outgro" is a harmless, antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions. —advertisement.

Diaz Guest Of Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, O., December 5.—General Armando Diaz, commander in chief of the Italian army during the world war, was Cincinnati's guest today. He is sixty years old today and Cincinnati citizens were determined that he should remember the reception accorded him.

General Diaz was to be in the city 12 hours, leaving at 9:30 o'clock tonight for Washington. During his stay he will participate in a parade of military and civic bodies, receive the degree of doctor of laws at the University of Cincinnati, attend a public reception, and an inspection of the troops at Fort Thomas, Ky. Tonight he will be the guest at a public dinner at the business men's club.

"Bayer" on Genuine Aspirin—say "Bayer"

Warning: Unless you see the name "Bayer" on package or on tablets you are not getting genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for twenty-one years and proved safe by millions. Take Aspirin only as told in the Bayer package for Colds, Headache, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Earache, Toothache, Lumbago and for Pain. All druggists sell Bayer Tablets of Aspirin in handy tin boxes of 12, and in bottles of 24 and 100. Aspirin is the trade mark of Bayer Manufacture of Mononitroaceticacid of Salicylicacid. —Advertisement

Goes On Trial For Murder

CLEVELAND, Dec. 5.—On an indictment charging the murder of W. C. Sly in a payroll robbery last December, Dominic Bonino, alleged leader of the gang that waylaid and shot Sly and his partner, G. K. Palmer, faced trial here today for the third time.

Bonino's first trial failed of conclusion because of the illness of a juror shortly after submission of the case. The jury in the second trial disagreed.

The state's case will depend in large measure on the testimony of Louis Komer, a member of the gang, who is awaiting trial in connection with the case.

Portsmouth Is Afire With Enthusiasm Over Pepgen

"Made Me Feel Younger" — Put Me Back On Payroll" — "I Can Eat Whatever I Desire" — "I Gained Weight Rapidly" — These and Many Similar Expressions are Now Heard Daily.

Portsmouth is like a city afire with enthusiasm over Pepgen. In all sections, in business houses, homes and on the streets, the people are talking about Pepgen, some relating their own remarkable experiences and others talking about what they have heard from friends and relatives. In fact, what Pepgen has done and what it is doing for the ailing men and women of this city has become the subject of more talk in Portsmouth, day after day, than probably any other single topic.

Many Portsmouth people are giving statements for publication telling of relief from health troubles they derived by taking Pepgen. Following are a number of statements given by local residents:

McConnell Ave. Case

E. F. Smith, of 1314 McConnell avenue, Portsmouth, says Pepgen is the best medicine he ever tried for indigestion.

"I suffered from indigestion and general stomach trouble," says Mr. Smith. "Food did not agree with me. My trouble has disappeared almost entirely since I have taken Pepgen. I seem to be improving each day. I eat about anything I care for now and without trouble from my stomach afterward."

Stomach Trouble Goes

"For about a year my husband suffered almost constantly with his stomach," says Mrs. Gertrude Cole, of 1428 Gallia street, Portsmouth. "He read about Pepgen in the Portsmouth papers and decided to try it. Since taking Pepgen he thinks it is the finest medicine for the stomach and general system that he ever tried. He is highly pleased with Pepgen and can recommend it to the general public after what it did for him."

Indigestion Leaves

"Within one week, Pepgen relieved me of indigestion and heartburn and improved me generally. My stomach is in such good condition now that I am able to eat foods that I did not dare to touch before."

Woman Of 63 Speaks

"I was extremely nervous," says Mrs. Amelia Hannah, of 2301 Seato Trail, 63 years of age. "I seldom enjoyed a good night's rest. I felt generally nervous. I sleep soundly eight to ten hours each night now. In addition, Pepgen strengthened my entire system. I feel like a new person."

Relieves Nervousness

"My stomach was disordered," says Mrs. R. O. Eddy, of 1912 Summit street, Portsmouth. "Food did not agree with me and didn't do me any good. As a result I became weak, nervous and run down."

Woman Of 63 Speaks

"Pepgen made a wonderful change in me. I feel better than for years. My stomach is in good condition now. The nervousness has left me. I am gaining strength every day. I'm glad to recommend Pepgen because I think it is a wonderful medicine."

Woman Of 63 Speaks

"Pepgen is recommended and sold by the Fisher & Streich Pharmacy. It is also stocked by all other leading pharmacies in Portsmouth and nearby towns."

Leave For Scene Of Murder

Late Monday afternoon Deputy Sheriff B. Frank Bennett and Detectives Bluspanier, Pratt and Leslie left for Dry Run to make a thorough search for the knife used to snuff out the life of the man whose body remains unidentified in the Lynn morgue. They will also question a number of people living in that vicinity to see if the man had ever before visited in that section.

Complaint Dismissed; Pictures Returned

James West, picture agent, pleaded not guilty to a charge of assaulting Mrs. Nancy Luther, 427 Fifth street, during a row over some pictures he had enlarged for her, when he appeared in Municipal court Monday, and after hearing from both sides Judge McCall dismissed the complaint after ordering West to return to Mrs.

Luther the original photographs from which the pictures were made. West denied her claims that he cursed or struck her and stated that a glass in a door was broken when Mrs. Luther attacked him in an effort to take the pictures from him. The trouble occurred a week ago at Mrs. Luther's home.

Anna Was "Kicked" By "White Mule"

Anna Greer, 22 years old, negro, admitted she took several drinks of "white lightning" which caused her to raise a disturbance at her home in Bachelor alley Saturday night, and Judge McCall taxed her the usual $5 and costs for intoxication in Municipal court Monday afternoon.

Sam Polphrey, Tom Brewer and William Sheppard, West Siders, each drew the regular $5 and costs for intoxication, although Sheppard denied guilt, but Judge McCall thought that the evidence was against him.

Ring Is Up-Fighters Are Ready For Big Bouts At Sun Tonight

Everything is in readiness for the big boxing bouts to be held at the Sun Theatre this evening, beginning promptly at 8:30 o'clock. The ring, with corner posts decorated in red, white and blue, was placed in position Monday afternoon and given a thorough try out. It will be located on the stage and every person in the audience will have a splendid view of the fighters. Walter DeLoell Superintended the erection of the ring, and the fighters will have nothing to complain of so far as their scrapping quarters are concerned.

The main bout will be between "Dip" Fortner and "Nag" Blair and will be announced as ten rounds. Both fighters are so eager to win that it would occasion no surprise should they not go the limit. Jack Dorsey, of Cincinnati, who is to meet Doc Price of this city in the semi-finals, arrived Monday morning and is in the proverbial pink of condition. This will be a head-liner in itself.

Tickets are selling rapidly and the crowd will without a question be the largest that ever witnessed a similar event in this city. Holders of complimentary tickets will be accorded stage seats and are requested to enter the Sun Theatre from the sixth street side.

The bouts will be under the auspices of the boys of Battery B, Field Artillery, and it will be good news to know they are going to make a success of the affair — which will mean other fight programs for the winter months.

Will Push Sale Of Christmas Seals

To put the 1921 Christmas Seal Sale over with a sale equal to that of last year, will require an amount of effort and energy greater than has been expended before by state, local and national organizations. The 55 business men in this city who have undertaken the job of making the sale of seals here greater than ever before realize the work that is ahead of them and are therefore starting active work early.

The sale of Christmas Seals generally moves along slowly the first couple of weeks, or until people start unrolling Christmas packages. This year the business men, through their organization expect to push the sale immediately in order to know just how many Seals or Stamps they will have to sell the last week or ten days when a special effort will be made to push the sale over the goal set.

Simon Labold and James W. Danon, who form the Manufacturers' Committee, have made splendid progress in their work and today reported that they had never met with such favor as they are this year.

Every manufacturer called upon was ready to take his share of seals in order to aid in the up-hill fight against the dreaded white plague, or tuberculosis, which is now on the decline in Ohio, due mainly to the increased efforts of health workers who are not leaving a stone unturned to stamp out the plague. Money for this health work is realized from the sale of the penny Seals and it takes a large number of sales or pennies to have a fund sufficient to meet the needs of the health workers.

The Seals will be placed on sale by school pupils this week. They always sell a large number of Seals, and this year will double their efforts in an effort to smash all previous sale records.

The Seals may also be purchased at Christmas Seal booths at the First National, Security or Central National Banks, Kline's, Martine's or Anderson's stores.

President and Mrs. Harding are both enthusiastic supporters of the campaign against tuberculosis and the Christmas Seal Sale. President Harding is an honorary vice-president of the National Tuberculosis Association.

PEPTO-MANGAN

MAKES BLOOD GOOD

Physicians Rely Upon It. Sold In Liquid Or Tablet Form

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is a blood builder. It restores blood to its natural vigor. Weak blood, clogged with poisons, causes that exhausted, dead tired feeling. It shows in the complexion, which becomes dull, pale, or sallow. That is because there is an absence of the red corpuscles which give the skin a healthy, rosy color.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan takes regularly every day soon makes new blood rich and red. Physicians have prescribed it for years in cases of anemia, or poor blood condition. The weak blood is fortified by a fresh supply of red corpuscles. The feeling of physical vigor returns in a remarkable manner. Instead of a sluggish, down-at-the-head feeling there is life, wide-awake energy. Sleep is more restful and the appetite sharper.

Any straggler has Gude's Pepto-Mangan in both liquid and tablet form. Look for the full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," on the package. Advertisements.

Religious Fire Dance For Prince

BIKANER, India, Dec. 5.—A religious fire dance was held for the Prince of Wales as part of the program of entertainment given during his stay here. Bare legged natives, dances through the embers of a great bonfire built in the quadrangle of the fort. As they danced they sang wildly and snatched up portions of the fiery mass which they placed in their mouth. A shower of sparks followed their footsteps and the heat of the fire could be felt ten yards away. Subsequently they pirouetted before the prince, inviting inspection of their legs and feet which were apparently moist and cool.

Several members of the prince's staff burned their fingers in attempting to pick up some of the embers. Nauteh girls danced and a juggler danced on swords, splices and saws for the edification of the royal visitors. The entertainment was completed with the singing of "God Save the King" in the Marwar tongue.

GETTING BACK TO NORMAL

ENGLAND proposes a moratorium on the German indemnity; it is stated the administration will replace the present short time bonds with new issues that will extend over a long period of years.

Here we have two indications that the world is returning to a basis of common sense, a going about in a plain way to relieve a situation that isn't so much a problem as it is a hardship. If conditions had been looked at in this manner from the beginning instead of listening to every quack and crank that had a short cut by the magic of statute to restoration the world would today be enjoying a reasonable amount of prosperity, at least it would not be plunged into such an utter mess of distress and confusion.

There is no fault to be found with the imposition of a heavy penalty upon Germany, but to compel her to hurry its payments to her total exhaustion is folly, aye, it is worse, a crime against humanity. The moratorium, the postponement of payment of colossal installments on her indemnity would give Germany time and opportunity to recuperate. When the wrath of war flamed white hot this wasn't a safe thing for politician to advocate, nor for statesmen to plan, or even so much as admit; but now it is safe to predict that if Germany goes to smash other nations will be involved in the crash and the whole of mankind more or less seriously affected.

In a less degree it is wise and just to stretch out the payment of the obligation of this government over a long period of years. The war was not fought alone for this generation, but for our children's children and their children and it is not right that all the burden of it should fall upon the present.

A VASTLY DIFFERENT IDEA

THE newspapers are mocking the liberality of a man, who lost a purse, containing $36,000 in money and negotiable papers and sent $15 to the other man, who found and returned it.

We would like for them to fix what the "reward" should have been for the honesty of the action, we would like for them to seriously ponder upon the matter for a moment or two and then say whether an honest man should accept any recompense at all for doing an act, which neglecting would have made him a thief?

If they should then feel like they need any instruction on the subject we would send them to a woman in this town, who is in humble circumstances, yes, she may well be said to be poor. One of her numerous progeny found a pocketbook containing a goodly sum of money, quite a fortune to her, were she entitled to it. Not for a moment did she think the finding gave her any interest in the money except to keep it safe and return it. So she promptly advertised the finding. When the owner appeared and proved his right to it she gave it up to him with pleasure and relief. Apparently the loser was a man after the editorial heart for he immediately peeled off a goodly proportion of the bills and tendered them to her. She shook her head and said she could not take it. "Well," he said, "we'll give the money to the boy and he can buy a suit of clothes for himself." "Nein, nein," she emphatically protested, "you must not give my boy money. Every night before he goes to bed I teach him his catechism and it says he must not steal. It was your money he found and it was his business to give it back to you and if I let him take money for it he thinks what the catechism says is not true. My boy must grow up to be an honest man like his father was."

We are sure the wise and honest editors will admire this poor woman far more than they do the man, who complains he got only $15 for not keeping what did not belong to him.

ONE CAUSE OF FAILURE

THE Helsingfors correspondent of the London Morning Post sends his paper a bit of Russian news which is far out of the ordinary, and without a word of comment, which is unusual in foreign journalism.

The news may confirm the popular impression that the soviet government is far too crude in its ideas of practical politics to hope for success in competition with more enlightened nations. The Morning Post's correspondent reports the sentence at a trial just concluded in which 51 attaches of the state funds department were the principals, charged with the theft of state property. All were found guilty and 19 sentenced to death by shooting. The others, one a former president of a revolutionary tribunal, were sent to prison for varying terms, some long, some relatively short.

Citizens of advanced nations will smile at the primitive notions of the soviet authorities who seem to expect that men selected for public service must be honest enough not to steal the public's property for private gain. This may be excellent in theory but cannot be expected to contribute to the upbuilding of successful governments based upon the principles of practical politics.

If this idea runs very far into the soviet system of administration little else would be needed to account for the lack of success according to western opinions.

It is presumed the additional guarantees that Germany offers would take the form of a scrap of paper.

Even the currency of the U. S. A. is not elastic enough for some folks to stretch from one pay day to another.

Putting Mother Right.

Dave was anxious to have a sister, so when his mother went downtown shopping he asked her to buy a baby girl and cat. On coming home Dave's mother told him she had bought a baby sister and a cat trimmed with blue, to which Dave gravely answered: "They fooled you, mother. Blue is for boys."—Chicago Tribune.

"Boa-Constructors."

The name boa is applied to any of the large venomous snakes of tropical America of the family "Boidae." These are closely related to the pythons, and popularly the name boa-constructors, is applied to any large snake that entwines its prey, crushes it and swallows it whole.

New York-Day-By-Day

BY O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK, December 4.—A page from the diary of a modern Samuel Pepys: Up pretty betimes, Jeanne Judson, the tartle writer, newly come from Berlin came and sat awhile. Read some leave passages from Childs Harold's Pilgrimages and through the town putting in to see some water colors John Don Passos, the novelist, bath fashioned, very noble.

Home and cast my accounts against the Yuletide and with my wife to Miss Horry's to look at pretty over-wraps and Lord the prices, and then to a milliner's where I listened to a silly, prating, talking man and watched comely women strut in their fine feathered gee-gaws.

A mighty hail storm came up, flinging down trees in the park, and we stood by the buffalo corral and the big animals paid no heed at all nor did they move but the dog barked at them until his month bled.

In the evening to a stag dinner at a club, much hip oil and ribaldry, and then to see "Over The Hill," the cinema play, again and I deem it one of the best ever made. Home where I was greeted by a gay letter from Dr. Crane in Paris and so to bed.

Cafes in the two great terminal stations are the sequestered meeting places for flirtations wives and husbands on the loose. They are supposed to be hide-aways not frequented except by travelers. However, during the past week three husbands were served with divorce papers while dining there.

The first frost sent thousands of Coney Islanders to the beach to dip for whiting and ling. This annual catch is an event among fisher folk who scramble over piers and jetties to catch fish with their hands and in nets. It is said that the whiting come in to shore to get away from the hungry big fish—which is a theory that Lewis Carroll put forward years ago. As I recall, it ran something like this: "Will you walk a little faster?" said a whiting to a snail. "There's a porpoise close behind us, and he's treading on my tail!"

Fair enough! This young stenographer advertises thusly for a job: "I am 22 and never expect to marry. I haven't bobbed hair nor do I cheat. The boss's wife need not have any worries about me. I want a position where I will be able to save enough money some day to go to the South Seas and get away from people."

One of the big hotels has removed all chairs and settees from their alleys and promenades. The hotel detectives were unable to keep out undesirable women who came there to carry on flirtations with men. Two arrests resulted in heavy damage suits and the hotel felt that the only possible solution was to make the forevers too unattractive for looting purposes. In the old days the Knickerbocker on account of its central location was forced to wage war against the devil-moude but the fight was unsuccessful because of the danger of insulting

"Christmas Is Coming"

Edyson Rawn, Jr., Huntington, W. Va. Christmas is coming, Christmas is coming. The children are merrily singing and humming. Cometh my children, cometh all. Oh! let us give praise for Christmas is high. And everyone will be happy by and by.

Cometh my children not to get gifts, but to give the helpless helpful lifts. Give all our prayers to our Lily Savior. And pray him to help us in our behavior. Mayeth it not in our hearts decay. And we won't regret it but take it as pay.

We all know it's not the gifts we get. But it's the things you do that you won't regret. Cometh my children, cometh all. Cometh to hear of the helpless that call. So cometh to help the helpless that cry. And cometh to do it without a sigh. Let us give praise for Christmas is night. To make people happy by and by.

His Difficulty

Real Estate Agent.—This tobacco plantation is a bargain. I don't see why you hesitate. What are you worrying about? Prospective But Inexperienced Purchaser.—I was just wondering whether I should plant cigars or cigarettes. —The American Legion Weekly.

In Tri m

"What is your husband growling about now?" "We are getting ready to go to the dog show."

Honest Toil

"It is hard work that brings success." "I know that, but it brings it to the man you're working for."

Will They Ever?

Marie, the eight-year-old hopeful of a certain household, was seated at the breakfast table one morning, when, as usual, eggs were served. Either Marie was not hungry or she was tired of eggs, for she very earnestly said: "I wish to goodness that hens would lay something besides eggs."

He roared across the crossing as fast as he could fly. And then he calmly stopped his car to watch the train go by. Some day he will not beat the train, and then he'll watch on high. Or possibly from down below, some other booby try. —Tennyson J. Duff.

THE OLD HOME TOWN

BY STANLEY

Explained

Son—"Father, what is the Board of Education?" Father—"When I was a lad it was a pine shingle."

Good Backing

"So Jack is a candidate for your hand." "Yes, a machine candidate you might call him—he owns an automobile." —Boston Transcript.

When Is a Lost Ball?

This bit of irony, sarcasm or something appears in the form of a sign on a Scottish golf course. "Members will refrain from picking up lost balls until they have stopped rolling." —Boston Transcript.

Dingbats

Dad's planning to start in the cement business. He says he intends to advertise his cement as being strong enough to mend the break of day.

The Floor Held

"Did your watch stop when it dropped on the floor?" asked one man of his friend. "Sure," was the answer. "Did you think it would go through?" —Western Christian Advocate.

Of Small Account

"Say," the editor questioned as he glanced over the reporter's account of the notable society wedding, "wasn't there a groom in this business? He isn't mentioned in your copy." "Oh, yes," the reporter admitted. "Clap named Jones. I forgot him. How about sticking his name in down at the end, with the among those present?"

Wrong Again

Dingus—"Back in the city again? I thought that you were a farmer." Stingus—"You made the same mistake that I did."

Advice to Authors.

If you write a book, don't read it to friends; read it to the nearest man you know and who admires you least. —From E. W. Howe's Monthly.

Comparatively Little Water in Lakes. All the lakes in the world are estimated to contain only 2,000 cubic miles of water, compared with 324,000,000 cubic miles of water in the oceans.

IF YOU ARE WELL BRED

You will sit erect at the table, neither lounging backward nor leaning forward. You will sit with the waist or chest eight inches from the table when dining. You will never tuck your napkin in at the girdle but allow it to rest folded across the knees. You will not re-fold your napkin at the conclusion of a meal in a hotel or restaurant.
